Thanks to the
REDFIELD IRC 2100™
Infrared Coagulator

Office-based technology for fast, well-tolerated infrared coagulation of symptomatic internal hemorrhoids.

Offer your patients the relief from the bleeding and discomfort of internal hemorrhoids—right in your office, with a fast, safe, non-surgical procedure that's easy to learn and use...

Patient preferred modality

In more than 20 years clinical experience, a majority of patients chose infrared coagulation over other hemorrhoid treatments. This non-surgical procedure can significantly shorten recovery time, allowing patients to return to normal activities almost immediately.

Safe and effective

Complications are rare and usually limited to minor bleeding. There have been no reported incidents of sepsis or stricture.

State-of-the-art, user-friendly technology

- Easy to learn and use – no extensive training required
- Takes only seconds to perform
- Instantaneous coagulation without smoke or odor – even in a wet field
- Less pain, fewer complications than rubber band ligation
- No disinfection required – eliminates cross-contamination

Affordable technology with a high return on investment

Excellent reimbursement from Medicare and private insurers. Simple, quick procedure generates a high return on a very affordable initial investment.
